Capital magazine promotes the greater Pietermaritzburg and KwaZulu-Natal Midlands through a focus on business and enterprise. People, and the myriad ways in which they make money and succeed, drive an economy and also shape the future. Their stories — often inspiring and frequently surprising — are featured in Capital.

Pietermaritzburg, the capital city of the province that makes the second largest contribution to the national GDP, is an integral part of the region. The city's strategic positioning on the primary corridor between Durban — the busiest port in Africa — and Gauteng — the economic heartland of the country — has spurred the development of a diverse range of businesses. Pietermaritzburg is also a multi-sectoral crucible in the affairs of the province, in agriculture, industry, commerce, government and politics; what happens in the capital and its surrounds, affects the rest of KZN and indeed, the country.

Capital speaks to both a local audience and to wider national and international readerships. The magazine tells the region's stories to new audiences and potential investors, and gives advertisers unprecedented reach. It achieves this through the focused distribution of an A4-sized glossy magazine enhanced by a digital edition.

The print version is distributed far and wide via other chambers of business, government departments, consulates, airports and subscriptions. The digital version is, of course, accessible freely, around the clock.

Capital is an initiative of the Pietermaritzburg Chamber of Business (PCB) and as such, is able to leverage valuable relationships locally, nationally and internationally to help realise the region's potential. Recognised as one of South Africa's leading business chambers, the PCB is run by an experienced and professional team whose primary purpose is to articulate the united voice of business in the greater Pietermaritzburg area.

That's why!
